(54) Title: OVEN LINER

(57) Abstract: A microwave oven liner (11) is an injection moulding having a roof (12), a floor (14), a back (15) and two sides (16). The moulding is of food grade polypropylene, such that the liner can be washed in a commercial dishwasher. The liner is sized to be a sliding fit in a microwave oven. The roof is shorter (17) at the front than the floor to allow air circulation. Further, the roof is apertured, also for air circulation, with a series of small c. 4mm bores (18) registering with the roof aperture (8). A lip (19) is provided across the front of the floor to retain split liquid. The external corners (20) are chamfered to clear the silicone seal (9) for instance. The floor has regularly pitched, 2mm high ridges (21) running front to back. The ridges allow circulation of air beneath a container of food being heated in the oven having the liner.

* Special categories of cited documents:

- *A* document defining the general state of the art which is not considered to be of particular relevance
- *E* earlier document but published on or after the international filing date
- *L* document which may throw doubts on priority claim(s) or which is cited to establish the publication date of another citation or other special reason (as specified)
- *O* document referring to an oral disclosure, use, exhibition or other means
- *P* document published prior to the international filing date but later than the priority date claimed

*T* later document published after the international filing date or priority date and not in conflict with the application but cited to understand the principle or theory underlying the invention

*X* document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered novel or cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is taken alone

*Y* document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is combined with one or more other such documents, such combination being obvious to a person skilled in the art.
